

Neil Aldrin Delacruz
Cybersecurity Consultant
Security Center of Excellence
AT&T Business

Neil is a senior consultant in AT&T's Security Services business and spent two decades of his career defending networks from cyberattacks. He is experienced in providing quality security consultancy services with a sharp focus on security philosophy and best-practices and has led transformational changes in the security programs he works with.

Since joining AT&T in 2006, Neil has been a sought-after subject matter expert on the business of cyber security. He has been invited to speak at seminars and participate in discussion panels worldwide. His technical whitepapers and documents provided significant contributions to AT&T's global security sales and training efforts. Neil works with small enterprises to large multi-national customers and devotes much of his time to the Asia-Pacific and Latin America regions. In recognition for his demonstrated leadership and results in the Security Services business, he has been presented with multiple awards by AT&T's leadership.

Prior to joining AT&T, Neil held roles in engineering, operations, educational services, and management. He was a 10-year veteran of the financial services industry, where he led the IT department of a publicly-traded broker-dealer and modernized every aspect of its technology systems. Since then, he has dedicated his career to cybersecurity and has helped hundreds of private and public sector organizations protect themselves from advanced network threats.